Join our growing firm

Blandy & Blandy is recognised as one of the leading and longest established law firms in the Thames Valley, with offices in Reading, Henley-on-Thames and Wokingham.

With a team of over 65 specialist solicitors and advisers and 130 colleagues, we are here to represent our clients in life and business, committed to developing long-lasting relationships and to delivering outstanding client care.

As a people business, we recognise that our continued growth and success relies on us developing a strong team of highly talented, ambitious and committed colleagues who share and embody our values of excellence, integrity and approachability.

We acknowledge that every member of our team has a valued role to play in helping to deliver the trusted legal services and outstanding client care on which our leading reputation is based. We seek to support colleagues' ongoing professional development and longer-term career development, whilst acknowledging everyone's individual contribution and celebrating our shared achievements.

A high proportion of our team have worked with us for many years, and we are very proud of our welcoming and supportive culture and firm belief in the importance of a positive work-life balance.

Our successful approach is reflected in a series of rankings and awards, including being recognised as a top tier firm in Chambers UK Guide, Chambers HNW Guide and The Legal 500, and through the excellent client feedback we continue to receive. Since 2003, we have also held the Law Society's Lexcel quality mark, which recognises firms that achieve excellence in legal practice management, compliance and client care.

We are confident you will find that joining our firm is an excellent next step in your career.

This role

This varied role will primarily support the Dispute Resolution team based in our Reading office with secretarial and administrative support.

Key responsibilities include

- Produce documents and correspondence as directed by lawyers.
- Efficient handling of telephone enquiries and calls.
- Provision of assistance to and dealing with tasks as delegated.
- File administration and data management.

The successful candidate will

- Have good literacy skills and an understanding of administrative support in a professional environment, preferably a law firm.
- Be a proficient typist and have knowledge of MS Word and other office products and ideally experience of working with a practice management system or large database.
- Be a good team player, with a willingness to offer support to others.
- Be enthusiastic, flexible and efficient with a helpful and friendly manner when dealing with clients and colleagues.
- Share and embody our values of excellence, integrity and approachability.

“Blandy & Blandy has a strong team.”
